

Bar Coded Addressing Technique

Abstract

A method and apparatus for identifying MAC addresses using bar codes is explained. A label that includes the MAC address in bar code format is attached to a network device and used with a bar code reader to enter the MAC address into system network tables.